Get totally Real! truly has the potential to positively impact an entire school which in turn positively impacts an entire community. The use of any one or combination of the following ideas can support struggling school budgets, while increasing school focus and motivation, as well as family & community involvement.

Here are a few creative ways to implement Get totally Real! so it is cost neutral to their budget.

1. Because Get totally Real! is a consumable workbook that students keep as a future resource, charge a lab fee like many schools do with courses like art and cooking.
2. Because Get totally Real! is now designed to encourage and stimulate parent participation through the addition of the Get totally Real! Parent Companion, ask PTA or for parent/community donations to cover the cost.
3. Because Get totally Real! encourages students to begin envisioning themselves as employees, some local businesses have donated funds to cover the cost, just like some businesses sponsor a sports team!
4. Because Get totally Real! can impact an entire school motivating students to do well, have senior class, as their legacy, raise funds so the incoming freshmen class can Get totally Real!
